AMUSEMENT NOTES.

Not Much More Than "The Princess Pat" Could Be Desired.

Rich in about everything which goes to make a comic opera successful, "The Princess Pat" was presented at the Barre opera house last evening before a large audience which thoroughly enjoyed the finished work of the players, admired the appropriate settings and resolved to see the performance again should it come this way. In all ways "The Princess Pat" was a success. The music by Victor Herbert was sung in splendid manner, the dancing was graceful and not overdone; the comedy was far removed from the vulgar. Ruth Welch as the princess and leading performer, was repeatedly called back, as indeed were most of the others having prominent parts. Loretta Marks was a marvel at dancing with her capable partner, Francis Bryan. Ben Hendricks was such a capable and, withal, humorous German that one might have imagined himself in the Fatherland. Philip H. Ryley had the town constable part down to perfection. And so on through the list. The thread of the play was the effort of a neglected wife to arouse the affection of her husband; and, by the way, the husband part could not have been better played than Georgia Gregario played it last night, while his tenor was a real delight. Needless to say, the wife won back the affections of her husband but she had to go through devious paths to accomplish her purpose.

WORK ON FREIGHT GLUT

The Commerce Commission Open a Conference

ELLIOTT DESCRIBES N. H. PROBLEM

Twenty-Five Per Cent. More Business Than Ever Before

Washington, March 7.—How best to remedy congested conditions in freight terminals of trunk line railroads entering New York and other Atlantic coast seaports was the topic for discussion yesterday at an informal conference between the interstate commerce commission, the railroads and shippers.

The commission has set aside two days for discussion and hopes to find some way to solve a problem that has worried all concerned for several months. It is without power to lessen eastbound shipments by embargoes, but could consider the justice of regulations that would expedite unloading of cars. Car shortage in the West will be taken up during the conference.

Chairman McChord in pointing out the purpose of the conference, declared that it clearly was the duty of both railroads and shippers to make every effort to end the congestion.

"The commission hopes," said Mr. McChord, "that helpful suggestions may be presented and that there may be co-operation between carriers and shippers and receivers of freight in efforts along right lines to ameliorate as speedily as possible the present situation, which is, and apparently for some time, may be extremely troublesome."

He explained the inability of the commission under the law to take up problems connected with the handling of traffic, the operation of roads, or their provision for terminal facilities.

Chairman Howard Elliott of the New Haven spoke first for the roads. He said the New Haven was now almost continuous freight yard, and that it has almost reached the point of stragglers. On last Saturday he showed there were more than 24,000 freight cars at terminals of the New Haven not being moved, and more than 4,400 cars on the line which the road was unable to move to the terminals.

"The business the New Haven is doing to-day," said Mr. Elliott, "is probably from 33 per cent. to 60 per cent. in excess of the business it was doing a year ago and at least 25 per cent. in excess of the business it has ever attempted to carry on." He said that at present there were about 20,000 New Haven freight cars on other lines, and that on the New Haven system there were about 42,000 cars belonging to other lines. The charges against the New Haven for the use of other roads' cars, he said, had virtually wiped out the profit the New Haven actually earned from operating revenues during the last few months.

Mr. Elliott said the present congestion was attributed to several causes. So far as war munitions business or any export business was concerned, he pointed out the New Haven had been but little affected. Of the total freight carried by the New Haven, he said, war munitions furnished about 5 per cent. He said the fact was that business had emerged from a quiet period, that buying powers had increased, that New England manufacturers were demanding raw materials. The New Haven, fearing trouble in the coal fields, has been buying large fuel supplies for possible contingencies.

Mr. Elliott suggested that the commission should permit the railroads to put in force a sliding scale of charges for storage of freight in warehouses or in cars to insure a more prompt unloading by receivers of freight. The New Haven, he declared, has spent several million dollars in increasing equipment during the last few years, and he argued that the shippers should be expected to improve their facilities for loading and unloading as well.

"The burdens," he concluded, "should be distributed more evenly than they are now."

RIGHT TO FIX PRICES AGAIN UP FOR REVIEW

For Third Time the Supreme Court Will Go Over Question of Patent Owner's Right.

Washington, March 7.—For the third time, the supreme court yesterday decided to review the right of a patent owner to fix the conditions and price of retail sale.

The specific litigation to be reviewed is that of the Victor Talking Machine company against R. H. Macy & Co. over the right of the store to sell the machines and records at cut rates.

In 1912 the court held that a patentee might make conditions as to the kind of supplies to be used on his machines by the public. A year later the court de-

A CHILD DOESN'T LAUGH AND PLAY IF CONSTIPATED

If Peevish, Feverish and Sick, Give "California Syrup of Figs"

Mother! Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver, and bowels need a cleansing at once. When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, remember, a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Syrup of Figs" for children's ills; give a teaspoonful, and in a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless, delicious "fruit laxative," and it never fails to effect a good "inside" cleansing. Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on the bottle.

Keep it handy in your home. A little given to-day saves a sick child to-morrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."—Adv.

Only seven judges participated in the first decision, and four dissented from the majority opinion in the second case. Several changes in the personnel of the bench have occurred since the first and even the last decision.

R. H. Macy & Co. lost in the lower court.

NO PLACE FOR A BACHELOR.

Domestic Relations Court Judge, Single, Asks Transfer.

Chicago, March 7.—Judge Jacob H. Hopkins, a handsome, wealthy bachelor, yesterday asked to be transferred from the court of domestic relations to another bench.

"For six months I have heard stories of domestic infidelity and unhappiness," he said yesterday. "I took my ideals of marriage and love to the court with me. I have at times day by day listening to tales of sorrows and tragedies of married couples. My illusions have died one by one."

"My court is no place for a bachelor judge."

SUPREME COURT WILL HEAR THE TARIFF CASE AGAIN

$25,000,000 Hangs on the Verdict—Will Probably Not Be Settled This Term.

Washington, March 7.—The supreme court yesterday reassigned for argument the cases involving the 5 per cent. discount or preferential given to goods imported in American bottoms.

This would indicate that the court, six justices only sitting in the case, had divided evenly on the merits of the issue, which involves their construction of the law and enforceability. The government will lose approximately $25,000,000 in revenues if the duties paid under protest by importers have to be returned. The case will hardly be settled this term and will not be heard until there is a full bench in all probability.
